SUNG OFFERS TO WITHDRAW ARMY

Sporadic Fighting Continues To Keep Tension At Height

35,000 JAPANESE TROOPS WILL LAND AT TANGKU TO-MORROW: BRITISH WARSHIP WATCHING

Tokyo, July 21.

Reports reaching here from Peiping state that General Sung Cheh-yuan, commandant of the 29th Army, last night proposed to withdraw the 37th Chinese Division from Papaoshan between 10 a.m. and noon to-day, and to substitute for the troops a military police force. Thus he hoped to prevent further clashes in Lukouchiao and the vicinity.

MADRID STRUGGLE

Conflicting Claims Tell Of Severe Casualties

40,000 Involved In Battle

London, July 20. The Insurgents' big offensive west of Madrid, culminating in the biggest battle of the civil war on July 18 when about 40,000 men were engaged, has now ceased, according to a message from Madrid.

It is reported that all the efforts of the Insurgents to retake the towns captured by the Government a fortnight ago in a sudden drive westward, proved unavailing.

It is estimated the Insurgents lost 2.000 killed alone. On the other hand, reports from Salamanca state that violent fighting has been proceeding in the trlangle west of Madrid for the last two days and that the prolonged opposition offered by the International Brigade was finally broken, and the defenders driven from their positions by Moorish troops after hand-to-hand fighting.

The Insurgents claim to have advanced over four miles and to have inflicted at least 8,000 casualties on the Government force: -- Reuter.

Lord Snell, speaking for Labour when initiating the discussion of the Palestine Report in the House of Lords to-day, said the members of the Royal Commission who had investigated the situation and recommended partitioning, seemed to have arrived at the conclusion that the country would never be united until it was divided. In his_judgment the better and surer way lay in obtaining understanding and cooperation between the two races.

He complained that the Government had endorsed the report before Parliament had had an opportunity to pronounce upon it. On behalf of the Labour Party he condemned the partitioning as inequitable and hazardous.

Chancellor Explains Profits Tax

SIMPLICITY THE KEY-NOTE

(By PERCY CATER)

- Westminster, June 28. CIR JOHN SIMON, Chancellor of the Exchequer, with general Conservative support and a thin audience of critics who, in any case, were hard up for arguments, found it easy to pilot the new National Defence Contribution through the House of Commons to-night.

Sir John, near whom sat the Prime Minister, original author of the tax idea, was bland, confident, bright in explaining the proposals to the House.

He reminded M.P.s of the "generous terms" in which trade and industry had offered their assurance that if the former tax were simplified and imposed on profits and not on profit-growth, and did not involve complicated calculations of capital, it would be cheerfully accepted.

"That is a very unusual position," he said gaily, "and I feel almost as though I were engaged in collecting a voluntary contribution."

Women, chosen for their guileless appearance, acted as carriers for a small band of "merchant conspirators."

They travelled across the Atlantic each month, carrying small consignments of gems. Sometimes, it is stated, they would pay the duty on a small package, to allay suspicion.

Many of those suspected are alleged to be fugitives from the French and Belgian authorities, and applications have been made for their extradition.

LORD CHAMBERLAIN'S CONFERENCE

Complaints certain cabaret and theatrical entertainers had used the Coronation celebrations as an excuse for instage acts were responsible for the convening of a meeting at St. James's Palace, recently, under the chairmanship of the Lord Chamberlain, Lord Cromer,

In an official statement issued from Buckingham Palace later, it was announced that "the object of the meeting was to bring to the notice of the representatives of those associations responsible for the stage, music hall, and cabaret, certain aspects of public entertainment which have recently been the subject of criticism, and the consequent desirability for more concerted action in the matter."

The Morning Post was informed by a prominent manager who was present, that it was a friendly round-DASH of 7,500 miles by air table conference at which an exfrom South Africa to Eng- change of views between the Lord land may save the sight of a Chamberlain, representatives of the London County Council, and West Southampton this afternoon in End entertainment leaders took place. It is reported that the bridge at Lukuochino has been completely destroyed. A Police Station inside Wangping was also damaged beyond repair. The Commander of the Peace Preservation Corps of Wangping is reported missing.

The fighting at Wangping actually started about 3 o'clock, when Japanese artillery shelled the city heavily. The Chinese took the offensive after Japanese withdrew.

this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The Tientsin-Peiping train service has been temporarily suspended.

Another report indicates that early this morning there had been another Sino-Japanese clash at a point between Nanyuan and Fengtal.' Considerable rifle fire was exchanged. Later, about 9 o'clock, a small number of Japanese soldiers was seen in the vicinity of Tahungmen, which is outside the Yungting Gate. A minor clash followed. After exchanging rifle fire for some time the Japanese were compelled to retreat. All train services on the Peiping-Mukden line this morning were delayed owing to fighting.- Wah Kiu Yat Po.

STRONG SUPPORT

Canton, July 20. The determination of Marshal Chiang Kai-shek and the Central Authorities that China's sovereign rights are not to be sacrificed even at the expense of war was commended to-day in non-Kuomintang circles here. Chinese opinion is now united in support of the Central Authorities in handling the North China situation.

Former students and professors of the Hsuch Hal College here and the National Socialists who look to Dr. Carson Chang, or Chang Chun-mal, as their political leader, are in support of his speech at Kuling pledging support to Marshal Chiang for his grim stand towards Japanese activities in North China. Dr. Chang is among the edulators who are advising the government to face the present crisis. On the contrary, Mr. T. Nakamura, Japanese Consul-General here, was to-day quoted by the Canton Daily Sun as saying that Japan has no territorial ambition in North China but demands only an apology by the 29th Army, punishment of officials respon-sible for starting the trouble, and complete termination of anti-Japanese movement in North China. The Consul-General added that Genera 1Sung Cher-yuan, Commanding the 29th Army, had already expressed regret for the incident to Japanese officials.—Special.

POWERS AND THE

CHINA CRISIS What has been taking place in the foreign chancellries of the world in regard to the Sino-Japanese crisis can only be a matter for speculation. Such information as is available is of the most meagre character. Yet the developments which are occurring in China at the moment are of so grave a character as to deserve something more than passing notice by the nations which are bound together by treaty to do all in their power to see that China's political and territorial integrity is respected. Mr. Anthony Eden. Foreign Secretary, has announced that Britain has been in communication with the United States and France, two of the signatories of the Nine-Power Treaty, both, of whom have expressed their concern over the North China situation and their hopes of a peaceful settlement. But if the Nine-Power Treaty is of any value whatever, it would seem that something more tangible than such expressions is called for. By the terms of that pact, as we have previously had occasion to point out, provision is made for full and frank communication between the signatories when any situation arises which, China's sovereignty. Mr. Eden, in the same speech as that in which he referred to consultation with the United States and assured by both Japan and and desks, perhaps these recollectransport. FAIR PLAY for ORD NOEL-BUXTON recently placed upon the Table of the House of Lords what may easily become an historic Motion upon the whole question of Native Races-That " This House, in view of divergencies in native policy now developing in different parts of his Majesty's Dominions and Dependencies, beileves that the time has arrived for the Imperial Conference to formulate such policy in broad outline with a view to protecting the rights and promoting the advancement of all races of the Empire, whatever may be their religion or colour, and that such policy should be based upon the principle of Trusteeship."

The time has come for the Imperial Conference to do some clear thinking, and lay down some broad lines of native policy to be pursued throughout the British Empire.

The confusion in policy is nowhere more apparent than in the southern parts of Africa.

Within regions south of the Troples there are about 10,000,000 British native sublects and British "protected" natives.

Of these, 5,000,000 have been told that because of the colour of their skins they can never aspire to become civilised men and citizens in their own country; the other 5,000,000 natives outside the Union have been officially assured in treaties and official documents that British fundamental policy will tolerate no discrimination based upon either race, creed or colour.

Another glaring confusion in policy is to be found with regard to land. This confusion is called the two "Heresles."

The Kenya settler dubs as "heresy" the land system of West Africa. This "heresy" consists for sooth in the proclamation that all the land is vested in the people, and that the Governor in his capacity of Trustee can never allenate the

is obvious.

Here again there is the most confounded confusion. In some parts of British Africa the native can walk where he will in his own land. he can work at what he can do best, he can go to bed when he likes, and he can get up and go out when he likes. Yet his brother across the border, often of the same tribal stock, can neither walk abroad, nor take a job, nor walk on the paths (the cost of which he has shared), nor be out after nine o'clock at night or before five o'clock in the morning, nor entertain a visitor, even though he be a relative, without a pass or a permit!

Wherever the system obtains controlling the movement of the native in his own country by passes and permits, the Press, the Courts and Missionary literature tell of the suffering which the system imposes on the natives.

Only the other day there was reported a case in South Africa of a native who, in his anguish at his wife's filness, was forgetful that the curfew hour for natives had passed, and ran out to fetch a doctor to his suffering wife.

The police saw him running for the doctor and promptly linled him off to the prison cell for the night, during which his wife breathed her last-and he was merely informed that his wife was dead.

Happily, the picture of British-· controlled Africa is not all dark. for there are indeed many bright spots within the circumference of this welter of confusion.

From Freetown to the Niger Deka romance, contentment and prosperity jostle each other for pre-eminence in the minds of 22,000,000 people. In the East, Tangangina and

Subjects

Deplorable though the position may be of the 12,000,000 Negroes in the United States of America, their economic conditions are incomparably higher than those which obtain amongst the 10,000,000 natives south of tropical It is estimated that the Negroes

natives, are following fast in the wake of West African happiness

On the other hand, Kenya and Nyasaland, with their 4,000,000 natives, and the territories south, with their 10,000,000 people, are driven helplessly along their confused and poverty-stricken way, endeavouring to meet taxation in the U.S.A. own more than £500,000,000, they own more than 1,000,000 farms, they conduct 60,000 substantial businesses, some of which employ thousands of Negroes and hundreds of white men.

In the South African political sphere, 5,000,000 natives, and 600,000 half-caste children, have just been told once again, in strident tones, that they can never be allowed to become citizens, no matter to what civilised scale they may attain.

Mr. Pirow, the Minister of Defence, speaking at Winburg on May 8, asserted that Kenya and other African colonies were looking to South Africa to lead the Continent in native policy.

This, he indicated, they were quite prepared to do-and their policy was a "White Africa south of the equator," "White supremacy," and for the natives " never political or social equality."

Thus the South African may labour as a helot, his wife and daughters may be allowed social equality only in the production of half-caste children, but otherwise. as pointed out by Mr. Plet Grobler at Pretoria in December last, "there can be no equality in Church or State between white and black."

Not character, not capacity, but the colour of the skin, is alone to decide whether the African may become a man.

Thus Lord Noel-Buxton is raising an Empire issue as grave as the one raised by his great grandfather. when, on May 15, 1823, he first moved in Parliament for the emancipation of the slaves.

----To-day's Thoughts----

THINK there is only one ideal that the British Empire can set before itself in this regard; and that is that there should be no barriers of race, colour or creed which should prevent any man by merit from reaching any station if he is Atted for it.

-MR. WINSTON CHURCHILL. at the Conference of Premiers, June 21, 1921.

THERE can be no equality in Church or State between White and Black.

-MR. P. G. W. GROBLER. the Minister of Native Affairs in South Africa, Pretoria. December, 1936.

"WHY SHOULDN'T THE WOMAN PROPOSE?"

1937 Way With The Shy Lover

(By Phyllis Davies)

THE modern girl and the shy lover were in the news yesterday. And this is what Man and Woman had to say about them—signs of the changing times:

MAN.

It would not be unmaiden-In for a girl to encourage a shy man to speak his mind. -Dr. T. Drummond Skiels.

Girls should have an equal privilege with men of proposing marriage. — Eve (1937 version).

WOMAN

Dr. Shiels started the matter. He told the summer school of the British Council for Social Hygiene, at Friends' House, Euston-road, N.W.:.

"There is no doubt that there have been cases where a shy man who, was very much attached to a girl would have been greatly helped by a little more frankness and honesty on the part of the girl.

But very often, owing to her conventional ideas, a woman, if she is attracted to a man, makes a point of being particularly disagreeable to him for fear that he should think she is running after

What A Match! Budge Wins Davis Cup Tie After Losing First Two Sets To von Cramm

CERMAN LEADS 4-1 IN FINAL SET THEN LOSES CHANCE

TWO AND A HALF HOURS BATTLE THRILLS A HUGE CROWD

Capping all previous Davis Cup ties for drama and excitement, the Inter-Zone Final between United States and Germany ended yesterday at Wimbledon with America winning 3.2 after von Cramm had led Donald Budge two sets to love, and later 4-1 in the final set, this being the match which settled the issue.

Henkel had previously taken the court and squared the count by beating Bryan M. Grant in four sets. Everything thus hinged on the Budge v. von Cramm affray. No stage manager could have secured a more dramatic setting, and the two players nobly lived up to it by providing thousands of spectators with one of the greatest duels since Henri Cochet beat Bill Tilden in the never-to-beforgotten Wimbledon final of 1927.

Ever since Budge arrived in England some months ago he has consistently annihilated his opponents. In the Wimbledon final he literally drove von Crainm off the court, and on such form which he had continued to display against Henkel last Saturday this deciding match appeared to be a certainty for United States.

But in this case the German ace refused to be overawed by either the | winning shot. occasion or Budge, and played so magnificently and courageously that he electrified the onlookers by winning the first two sets, and after being pulled back to two-sets all, swept into a 4-1 lead in the final

Then came Budge's turn. The American, putting everything he had into the game scored a love game on service, broke through von Cramm's delivery and then held his own to square the score at four-all. The bitter duel was continued until the fourteenth game, when Budge secured the winning point after holding it five times.

Thus United States qualified to meet Britain (holders) in the Challenge Round, the full results

MATCH DESCRIBED

London, July 20. The Inter-Zone Final of the Davis Cup was concluded to-day when, in a match lasting two hours 25 minutes. Budge of United States beat G. von Cramm of Germany, 6-8, 5-7, 6-4, 6-3, 8-6.

Budge was given a real fright, and von Cramm, who was warmly encouraged by the crowd, played inspired tennis in the first two sets. He advanced to the net on backhand and volleyed splendidly, pions, though Budge looked the better player.

Nevertheless Budge's forehand was rather weak, and he missed with several of his first services.

In the first set Budge led 6-4, and had five set points, but von Cramm fought doggedly and robbed him of the advantage, finally winning the set in the fourteenth game. Budge, after losing the second set at 7-5, went to a two-love lead in the third set, but von Cramm again recovered and levelled at iwo-all, winning a love game against service. Budge did precisely the same thing in the next game, and went to his

Budge was quickly four-love in the fourth set and won it with the loss of three games, but von Cramm came back finely in the final and deciding set. He led 3-1 and then, after being love-30 on service, also won that game for 4-1.

Budge proceeded to snatch a love game on service and then broke through von Cramm's service to make the score 3-4. The American levelled the count in the eighth game on service after being 30-40. After this games went with service and were won to love at the 11th and 12th games. In the vital thirteenth game Budge won against service giving him the lead in this set for the first time. Then in a tense atmosphere, Budge served and actually held five match points before he could obtain the HENKEL WINS WELL In the match preceding this epic struggle, Henkel rather easily bent Grant. It was mostly a baseline duel. Grant brought off some beautiful half volleys and some amazing recoveries, but the German was the more forceful player, and this, allied with his better serving, told in the end. Grant had won big chance of saving the match when he led 4-3 in the fourth set .- Reuter.

VON CRAMM IMPRESSIVE

Germany has two survivors, whom G. von Cramm has been, perhaps, as impressive on occasions as Budge. The match in which he beat the Japanese leader, J. Yamagishi, was one of the best of the week. Having previously dropped two sets to R. K. Tinkler, the old Oxford Blue, H. Henkel was on Saturday given a genuine twisting by C. E. QUICK WINS IN WOMEN'S SINGLES

(By A Special Correspondent)

Two matches in the women's singles slovakla. He is a far stronger player a set to Miss M. E. Lumb, but only on Court 2 were disappointingly quick than he was a year ago, and there is three more games after that, while for the spectators, but must have the effect of launching the winners into trampling more or less merellessly the next round with renewed confidence. First, Miss M. C. Scriven disposed of Mrs. E. C. Peters by 6-2, 6-1, and then Miss A. Marble routed

Miss W. M. Lincoln by 6-1, 6-0. Miss Seriven played her match like a tornado. Seldom, I imagine, has so strong a player as Mrs. Peters found herself five games down with a total of six points to show during their passage, but this is what happened in the first set. Mrs. Peters then rallied slightly to collar two games. She could not, however, shake Miss Scriven's dominance, and the second set was a repetition of the first, only "more so." It was probably something approaching demoralisation that caused Mrs. Peters to lose the last point on a double fault. REDISCOVERING A STROKE

Miss Scriven's struggle to regain her former ranking position has not been without setbacks. On Saturday she was playing very nearly in her form of 1933 and 1934 and had rediscovered that short, pushed out fore hand drive to the forehand court which used to serve her so well. It is a pity that the draw brings her and Miss K. E. Stammers into conflict for a place in the last eight.

A spectator suggested during the Marble-Lincoln match that there was room for a Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Lawn Tennis Players. Miss Lincoln, naturally, considering her youth and inexperience, was in a G. pitiable state of nerves and quite unable to do herself justice before a packed gallery. Possibly Miss Marble, anxious to take no risks, had heard that Miss Lincoln thrives on speed. At any rate, she left her, by slowing down all strokes except services and winners, the difficult task of generating pace. This Miss Lincoln quite failed to do. Miss Marble dropped three points in the first five games, then lost her only game before L. Hecht and R. Menzel beat B. M. Grant and W. Sabin. 5-7, 9-7, 6-4, 6-1.

OMARS IN FINAL

One of the finest matches in the tournament saw the entry of the Omar brothers into the final at the Kowloon Cricket Club before a large crowd. The brothers, U. M. and A. M., beat W. L. Walker and S. Randle 22-11.

The winners will be first to admit they had luck on their side. Contrary to their usual custom, they took the lead from the start and never lost it-a great change from the uphill struggles which brought them to this advanced stage of the competition.

Though Walker could be said to have held his own with the younger Omar, Randle found bad luck on most of his drives and draws. U. M. Omar never fell from the high standard which he set from the start.

The scores do not give a true indication of the play which, if Dame Fortune had played fair, would still have gone to the Craigengower pair but by the more moderate margin of five or six shots.

All players found the green with remarkable consistency and some of the most compact and close-lying lays that have been seen in the competition were found in this match. The Omars conceded a shot in the second and third heads and went steadily on to lead 10-2 at the ninth

LOCAL MUI-TSAI DISCUSSED BY CHILD PROTECTION SOCIETY

A lengthy discussion took place at the monthly meeting of the Executive Committee of the Society for the Protection of Children, presided over by Mr. J. T. Prior, on the question of the Society making representations to the Government on the mul-tsal

The debate arose on a motion put forward by a member to the effect "that an inquiry be addressed to the Government asking whether it inthe micro-waves lighting lamps and tends, in the near future, to introduce ringing bells when vessels or air- legislation on the question of mulcraft are dangerously near each toal or other children out of the other. Case Reports

The case reports showed that the average income per head per month of families dealt with by the Society during June was $2.29 in the Eastern district and $1.57 in Kowloon.

The finance report showed that for the Society's current year to date, income had exceeded expenditure by $6,063.15. Included in the income was a sum of $4,000 transferred from the Women's Auxiliary and another sum of $1,200 from Mr. Li Po-chun, being a year's contribution in advance for the maintenance of the new creche.

It was reported that during her holiday Miss Seto Wal-cheung, the | Society's Inspector, had paid visits to three centres of child welfare work in Shanghai, where she had made an intensive study both from the nutritional and educational points of view. She had also visited Flags on Broadcasting House flew similar centres in Nanking. It was half must to-day in recognition of the decided to ask Miss Seto to report to the Committee on the work she

MISTAKE PLEADED IN LARD CASE

It was a serious matter for all provision dealers in Hongkong if the manager or proprietor was liable to conviction for some stupid mistake of a foki, submitted Mr. C. Y. Kwan when he appeared in defence of the Wing Coffee company at the Central Magistracy yesterday. Albert W. L. Chong, proprietor of the company, was charged with selling to Sanitary Inspector J. M. Boyd, as lard, an article which did not comply with the regulations set out in the Adulterated Foods and Drugs Ordinance. "If the defendant had sold Purico as lard then the offence should not have been based on this ordinance but de-fendant should have been charged with obtaining money by false pretences," said Mr. Kwan. Purico, he continued, was a vegetable fat and could not be considered as animal lard. Purico could not, therefore be judged under that Ordinance as an adulterated mixture of lard.

His Worship, Mr. W. Schofield, reserved judgment until 11.30 a.m. on July 24.

Sanltary Inspector C. Strange pro-secuted, and yesterday Mr. E. Kern, manager of Ed. A. Keller and Co., Ltd., in evidence stated that his firm were agents in Hongkong for Purico. The commodity had been sold in Hongkong for the past fifteen years, and was composed of refined edible coconut oil, hardened. The name had nothing to do with lard but meant "pure and rich." It was a vegetable 7at made in Manila. Anybody who bought Purico should expect to get vegetable fat and not lard; the one was pure white whereas the other, lard, was yellowish or cream coloured. Purico is tasteless and odourless.

Anyone used to lard could say at once that Purico was not lard, but could not say it was Purico. It had all the qualities of lard, but with the added advantages of having no taste and not going rancid.

Defendant's Evidence

Defendant stated that when he came down from his office he saw his foki giving Inspector Boyd some. Purico out of a tin. The Inspector was asked if he were taking some as a sample but no answer avas given. The inspector placed the Purico in bottles and then wrote something on the labels of the bottles. It was when that it was Purico he had bought.

Mr. Kwan submitted that on the evidence of the prosecution there was no case to answer. Here it with obtaining money by false pre- the Hongkong Clipper." tences. The prosecution had not attempted to prove that Purico contained lard at all.

May Have Misunderstood

It was probable that there was some misunderstanding because of the business in the shop. The Inspector and the Interpreter could not corroborate, and it was therefore more than possible that the fok! had misunderstood the Inspector when he asked for lard. If defendant was selling lard then he must comply with the standard for lard, but he was not selling lard.

Inspector Strange pointed out that the Ordinance only repealed that of 1896 which forbade the selling of anything not of the nature or sub-stance asked for. There was also a section which stated that it was no defence to say that the offence was not wilful. The owner was as liable as the employee.

His Worship said that he was inclined to think it was the act of a stupid fokl who did not make it clear to the Inspector what he was buying.
Mr. Kwan repeated that defendant was not selling lard. The tin was there, as admitted by the evidence of the prosecution, for the Inspector to see and examine. Putting it at the highest, namely that it had been a mistake of the fokl, then it was not within the ordinance and defendant could only be held for obtaining money by false pretences.' If one were selling sugar then that sugar must be up to the standard. Purico being. The prosecution had admitted that there was no intention to cheat. It was merely a stupid mistake by a foki, concluded Mr. Kwan.

The Speaker's Chair when the House is empty and the mace taken away. TIVE thousand pounds a year, a fine, old house in the centre of London, next in rank after the Premier and Lord President of the Council, the virtual autocrat over 614 elected representatives of the people in the Mother of Parliaments. That's the job of the Speaker of the House of Commons.

CAPTAIN FITZROY "has done a good deal to raise the standards of the House."

tion of grave disorder. Not for him the pleasures of dining out. It is too great a risk to take, He might not get back in time. Even in the holiday season he must be reasonably within call in case of the urgent necessity to bring Parliament back to work. He is as tied to his job as any care-Once on duty he must be a paragon of patience, a master of persuasiveness. When necessary terrible in authority, stern and incisive in his rebuke to those who would break the peace.

He must have no favourites. He must be accessible to all sections of the House, ready to give help and guidance to everybody. At a moment's notice he must be prepared to give rulings on all kinds of tricky points of order. He-must know the precedents of generations of Parliamentary history; if necessary he must make precedents of his own. He must always give the correct answer. He must never be tripped. Trip him once and bang goes his authority One of the Speaker's most dif-

up from time to time. These always put the Speaker in a delicate position. He is the guardian of the powers, dignities, libertles and privileges of every member:

He must protect the private membar against the invasion of his rights by the executive, but he must also protect the executive against vexatious obstruction. Always he must strive to keep the balance.

Like the policeman at the door, he must know every M.P. by face, name and constituency. He must be acquainted with all their ways and annoying little foibles.

Upon him falls the far-fromeasy task of arranging the debates and guiding the House through its deliberations.

Theoretically if you want to speak you must rise and eatch the Speaker's eye, but this is not so easy, as when the other night twenty-two Labour M.P.s-all rose at once. So there has developed the sensible practice of letting the Speaker know that you desire to take part TROM his list the Speaker is able to produce a much more balanced debate than by completely depending on chance.

But this does not mean that all debate is ordered and regulated. On occasions when feelings run high, when spontaneous rejoinder and counter-rejoinder break the quiet placidity of normal Parliamentary life, then the Speaker must let the House go Ra own way, only keeping a loose hand on the rein. And this all requires great tact and understanding.

Then the Speaker must decide as to what and what is not Parliamentary language. And this so much rests on mood and manner,

Who'd Be RINGING A BOB ROYAL

DELL RINGERS from all over the D world seldom come to London without turning their steps in the direction of St. Paul's Cathedral. There a "College Youth" on the end of a bell rope means something more than ordinary bell ringing, if one may judge from practice night at the cathedral, and the Peal Book of the Ancient Society of College Youths, old established association of bell ringers. But these "Youths' have been ringing bells for 300 years t—they are to celebrate their tercentenary on November 5-so perhaps it is not surprising that they have gained a mastery of the technique of bell ringing calculated to overawe mere man-in-the-street, No less awesome are the terms used to describe the changes they ring-"Bob Royal," "Stedman Triples," "Grandsire Caters," "Superlative

An insulting epithet thrown ncross the floor by one member Surprise Major," to name only a may be a much worse offence against Parliamentary law and few. It is evening when the "College order than when used by another. There are occasions, too, when Youths" meet to practice change ringing in the great domed cathedral of St. Paul's. Some nights they Pres. Garfield meet at other famous London churches-Southwark Cathedral. St. Mary-le-Bow, and two or three others-but to-night it is to be St. Paul's, the Ringing Headquarters of the Society. Buses swirl and swoop around the gray, islanded building, but its steps are almost deserted, for the workers thronging the sidewalks of Ludgate Hill are hurrying homewards or surging in the direction of Shaftesbury Avenue's theaterland, in search of entertainment. As the City becomes quiet, the bell ringers get busy, for a stern duty-or is it play?-awaits them in the chamber high above the street. Whichever it VER and over again is they seem to derive a great deal I have seen developing of enjoyment from the exercise of an ugly situation their skill. which has been avolded by the Twelve bell ropes hang in the ringing chamber, ready for the "Youths" Speaker in handling an unruly who filter in one by one. It is a bare, businesslike room, its walls made memorable by inscriptions of record peals which have been rung in this chamber.

While the ringers are assembling. a veteran "Youth" who says he has been ringing bells ever since he was a choir boy takes me up above the ringing chamber into the belfry. Up the dark and narrow stone staircase we stumblingly feel our way-round and round, and narrower and narrower, until I am glad to be assured that no one is likely to be coming down at this moment-one-way traffic only is thinkable. To attempt to get into reverse would be-nt leastdisconcerting. At last pale daylight meets us. We are in the belfry, high up over the City, above even the flying pigeons. Here the twelve bells are fixed in their frames, mouth upward, clappers resting to one side of each bronze lip, quietly waiting for the tug of a rope to turn Speaker should be transferred to

Each ringer stands on a little wooden platform onto which two leather loops are fastened. Into these he pushes his toes so that he shall stand firmly.

"Go," commands the conductor. Immediately the bells peal out, one by one, then the changes begin, and the ringers are off, pulling their ropes, knitting their bell sounds into patterns of melodic intriency, while at the other end of the beli ropes, the great bells are whirling and turning, throwing their music into the air.

Bell ringing seems to be a vigorous affair, even on practice night, but the records of the Society show that on one occasion a team of "Youths" kept on ringing for twelve hours, twenty-five minutes, completing 21,363 changes. This feat was performed at St. Lawrence, Appleton, in 1922, and I am told that it is the world record for non-stop ringing by a single set of men. I believe it. A ringer comes and sits on the bench by the wall. "Do you always ring the same bell?" I ask, "Yes, as a rule,"

"What note is it?" But the ringer is not sure, though he can tell the number of the bell. After all, it isn't necessarily music alone which makes bell ringers. Precision, timing, permutations and combinations, and mastery of technique and method, play a large part in it as well. As one "Youth" put it, the ringers "weave patterns," making intricate and delightful patch- Hong Bank Bidg. work out of bell tones.

CHINESE EVACUATING PAPAOSHAN

Move Made with Hope Avoiding Serious Clash in North China

SUNG CHEH-YUAN ORDERS TROOPS REPLACED BY MILITARY POLICE

Shanghai, July 21 (1.30 p.m.).

The 37th Division of the 29th Army, commanded by General Feng Chi-an, has commenced the evacuation of Papaoshan, under supervision of Japanese officers, according to the Domei News Agency correspondent at Peiping.

Evacuation commenced at 10 a.m.

General Feng's troops are known as among the most truculently anti-Japanese units in the Hopei provincial army which General Sung commands. It is hoped that by their removal from Papaoshan, which is a golf course just outside of Peiping, that the danger of further serious clashes in this vicinity will be avoided.—United Press.

Shanghai, July 21 (1.54 p. m.).

Well-informed Japanese state that General Sung Cheh-yuan's attitude is tending to make possible a settlement in North China, providing the Nanking Government does not attempt to over-ride him.—United Press.

Tokyo, July 21 (10 a.m.).

Japanese reports reaching here from Peiping state that General Sung Cheh-yuan, commandant of the 29th Army, last night proposed to withdraw the 37th Chinese Division from Papaoshan between 10 a.m. and noon to-day, and to substitute for the troops a military police force. Thus he hoped to prevent further clashes in Lukouchiao and the vicinity.

The Japanese military has appointed three Japanese officers to supervise the Chinese withdrawal.—Reuter.

Intense nervousness prevails as a result of two further clashes in the Wangping area yesterday afternoon, and the wholesale exodus from the Chinese native city to the concessions in Tientsin is progressing, the people fearing that fighting will become general.

Meanwhile, there are heavy Japanese troops movements along the Peiping-Mukden railway.

It is understood that 35,000 troops, comprising a full army corps, will arrive at Tangku aboard transports from Japan, the first landing to be made to-morrow morning. All these troops will proceed to Tientsin by train.

Government Anxious To Avoid Variations

London, July 20.

Lord Snell, speaking for Labour when initiating the discussion of the Palestine Report in the House of Lords to-day, said the members of the Royal Commission who had investigated the situation and recommended partitioning, seemed to have arrived at the conclusion that the country would never be united until it was divided. In his judgment the better and surer way lay in obtaining understanding and cooperation between the two races.

He complained that the Government had endorsed the report before Parliament had had an opportunity to pronounce upon it. On behalf of the Labour Party he condemned the partitioning as inequitable and hazardous.

Lord Peel, chairman of the Palestine Commission, who was received with loud cheers, said he believed that the deep-rooted facts of the situation were that it would not be possible to earry on government under a mandate without the greatest and most searching alterations in the mandate itself.

The race which had been introduced into Palestine was determined not to remain in the minority. Inevitably, therefore, the Arab believed that either himself or his descendants & would go down before the forces of . * of the Jews, with which they would be unable to cope.

"It was not until after the most thorough and tremendous sifting and questioning that we moved slowly and reluctantly to the assumption that no mere change in the mandate was enough," Lord Peel concluded.

Lord Dufferin, Under-Secretary of State for Colonies, draw the attention of the Lords to the fact that the Report was unanimous on the four major issues of the investigation. It had dispelled the belief that the existing mandate could be made to work. The Government's view was that the Commission's scheme appeared equitable and well conceived in its main outline, and both just and practicable. The Government believed its inherent difficulties would be over-

BOUNDARY CONSIDERATIONS

Representations regarding the proposed boundaries of the partitions of Palestine, for Jows and Arabs and neutral zone, would be received with overy consideration, Lord Dufferin

While various modifications of detail might be found necessary, the Government was not disposed to eniertain very substantial variations, he pointed out.

He added that a military convention would be attached to the treaties entered into with the Jewish and Arab states. This convention would deal with the maintenance of military, naval and air forces, the use of ports, roads and rallroads, and the security of pipelines to the oilfields, and other mutters affecting the defence and security of Palestine, as a whole.-Reuter,

LORD SAMUEL OPPOSES

London, July 20. In the House of Lords, Lord Samuel, who was the first High Commissioner to Palestine, strongly criticised the report of the Commission, particularly the partition scheme. He urged, as an alternative scheme, that the Jews should consent to a limitation of immigration other than on the principle of absorptive capacity and also recognise the reality of Arab national aspirations, Britain, with France's assent, hosuggested, should assist in the formation of a great Arab Federation which would help Palestine economii cally, while the Arabs should con-(Continued on Page 4.)

Picture Of Health!

A bright, smiling face and plump, rosy checks denote a child's healthy progress. Every child should be like this. If your little son or daughter is thin and pale it is most likely that there is some derangement in the digestive organs and when such is the case, a dose or two of Baby's Own Tablets will usually correct the trouble, after which the child quickly begins to gain weight and recover health and happiness.

"Our little boy is just three. Whenteething he was very cross and pecvish, with a high temperature. but Baby's Own Tablets always made him happy and contented, sometimes in less than an hour. They have been his only medicine ever since he was six months old." states Mr. Jeffries, of 36, Green Lane, Rugeley, England.

Baby's Own Tablets, are pleasant in taste so children like them, which makes them easy to give, and being in tablet form accuracy of dosage is assured. They are mildly laxative and are a specific for all the minor health troubles to which bables and little children are subject, constipation, upset atomach, 'wind', diarrhoea, colds, croup, simple fover, teething troubles, and worms. Sold by all chemists.

'Protect them!'

The children often cut and graze themselves. Protect them with an essicient reliable antiseptic.

CIR JOHN SIMON, Chancellor of the Exchequer, with general Conservative support and a thin audience of critics who, in any case, were hard up for arguments, found it easy to pilot the new National Defence Contribution through the House of Commons to-night.

Sir John, near whom sat the Prime Minister, original author of the tax idea, was bland, confident, bright in explaining the proposals to the House.

He reminded M.P.s of the "generous terms" in which trade and industry had offered their assurance that if the former tax were simplified and imposed on profits and not on profit-growth, and did not involve complicated calculations of capital, it would be cheerfully accepted.

"That is a very unusual position," he said gaily, "and I feel almost as though I were engaged in collecting a voluntary contribution."

As though threatening to most would be that the tax was come round with the hat on the instant, he added, with a colloquial humour quite out of his calling the golfer who said to his usual style, that "all contribu- partner, "None of your science. tions would be thankfully re- Just bung it in." ceived."

STOCKBROKERS TO PAY

Sir John seemed unable to stress Chancellor on having introduced the enough that "the keynote of the tax "simple, straightforward tax for is simplicity." He almost spread the which industry had asked." Industry Illusion that, with such a simple tax, must now fulfil its promise and find it would be a pleasure to pay. the money. Here are some of the details with which he elaborated the White Paper: whether of a foreign or an English company.

It was just to impose the tax both on companies and on firms or individuals carrying on trade or industry, because firms all over the country were in competition with companies. There were large partnership firms -private banker, for instancecompeting with limited companies. Sir John announced, "so as to avoid either fears or hopes," that stockbrokers, stockjobbers, and insurance brokers would be insluded, whereas other professional men would be excluded. In the case of director-controlled companies, where it would be possible for the directors' remuneration completely, to drain the pool of profit available for the tax, there would be two formulas-one that not more than a percentage of the profits should be deducted for remuneration, and the other fixing a sum which could not be exceeded. The relief for small businesses (proposed in the original tax) would be continued. This provided that no tax should be paid on profits of under £2,000. For profits between £2,000 and £12,000 there would be a tapering of the burden, thus:

COCKTAIL PARTIES CLASH WITH NAVY'S DIGNITY; SUCCEEDED BY "AT HOMES"

(BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

When the China Fleet returns to Hongkong after its summer cruise in the North, friends of Naval Officers will no longer find themselves invited to those convivial evening aboard, known in the past as cocktail parties. Officially the cocktail party is dead, its obsequies having been read in a recent Station Order by the Commander-in-Chief, Admiral Sir Charles Little, who is at present in Weihaiwei.

POWERS AND THE CHINA CRISIS

What has been taking place in the foreign chancellries of the world in regard to the Sino-Japanese crisis can only be a matter for speculation. Such information as is available is of the most meagre character. Yet the developments which are occurring in China at the moment are of so grave a character as to deserve something more than passing notice by the nations which are bound together by treaty to do all in their power to see that China's political and territorial integrity is respected. Mr. Anthony Eden, Foreign Secretary, has announced that Britain has been in communication with the United States and France; two of the signatories of the Nine-Power Treaty, both of whom have expressed their concern over the North China situation and their hopes of a peaceful settlement. But if the Nine-Power Treaty is of any value whatever, it would seem that something more tangible than such expressions is called for. By the terms of that pact, as we have previously had occasion to point out, provision is made for full and frank communication between the signatories when any situation arises which, in the opinion of any one of China's sovereignty. cently placed upon the Table of the House of Lords what may easily become an historic Motion upon the whole question of Native Races-That "This House, in view of divergencies in native policy now developing in different parts of his Majesty's Dominions and Dependencies, .be-Heves that the time has arrived for the Imperial Conference to formulate such policy in broad outline with a view to protecting the rights and promoting the advancement of all races of the Empire, whatever may be their religion or colour, and that such policy should be based upon the principle of Trusteeship."

The time has come for the Imperial Conference to do some clear thinking, and lay down some broad lines of native policy to be pursued throughout the British Empire.

The confusion in policy is nowhere more apparent than in the southern parts of Africa. Within regions south of the Tropics there are about 10,000,000 British native subjects and British "protected" natives.

Of these, 5,000,000 have been told that because of the colour of their skins they can never aspire to become civilised men and citizens in their own country; the other 5,000,000 natives outside the Union have been officially assured in treaties and official documents that British, fundamental policy will tolerate no discrimination based upon either race, creed or colour.

Another glaring confusion in policy is to be found with regard to land. This confusion is called the two "Heresics."

The Kenya settler dubs as "heresy" the land system of West Africa. This "heresy' consists for sooth in the proclamation that all the land is vested in the people, and that the Governor in his capacity of Trustee can never altenate the peoples' land except within the circumference of native law and custom; thus is prevented the allenation—for all time—of the freehold.

West Africa retorts to Kenya by calling their land system the "Kenya heresy," namely-that ownership of land is never vested in the native people, only in the white emigrants.

The dizzy confusion that these conflicting land systems create in the native mind is admitted, and the ethical conflict is obvious.

The economic accompaniment to the application of these two widely conflicting "heresies" is seen in the abounding prosperity which attaches to the West African " heresy," and in the staggering debt which hangs like a millstone round the neck of the Kenya administration—a debt which far exceeds the total debts of all the British Crown Colonies in Africa put together.

A third and even more hopeless confusion is to be found in the varying systems of native taxation.

In some parts of the British Empire there is no direct taxation at all. In other territories. conditions have been unfolded for us in full and authentic detail by Sir Alan Pim, whose examination of the economic situation in Kenya, Basutoland and Swaziland makes together appalling reading; while the Nyasaland Government Report tells a story of taxation as tragic as any in British colonial history.

Then there is the pass system. which is driving to prison every year tens of thousands of the best sons of Eritish Africa.

In Southern Rhodesia along last year 20,000 natives were convicted of breaches of the pass laws, of the provisions of which they were almost completely ignorant.

Here again there is the most confounded confusion. In some parts of British Africa the native can walk where he will in his own land, he can work at what he can do best, he can go to bed when he likes, and he can get up and go out when he

Yet his brother across the border, often of the same tribal stock, can neither walk abroad, nor take a job, nor walk on the paths (the cost of which he has shared), nor be out after nine o'clock at night or before five o'clock in the morning, nor entertain a visitor, even though he be a relative, without a pass or a permiti

Wherever the system obtains controlling the movement of the native in his own country by passes and permits, the Press, the Courts and Missionary literature tell of the suffering which the system imposes on the natives.

Only the other day there was reported a case in South Africa of a native who, in his anguish at his wife's illness, was forgetful that the curiew hour for natives had passed, and ran out to fetch a doctor to his suitering wife.

The police saw him running for the doctor and promptly haled him off to the prison cell for the night, during which his wife breathed her last-and he was merely informed that his wife was

Happily, the picture of Britishcontrolled Africa is not all dark, for there are indeed many bright spots within the circumference of this welter of confusion.

From Freetown to the Niger Delta romance, contentment and prosperity jostle each other for pre-eminence in the minds of 22,000,000 people.

In the East, Tanganyika and Uganda, with their 7,000,000 natives, are following fast in the wake of West African happiness and prosperity. On the other hand, Kenya and Nyasaland, with their 4,000,000 natives, and the territories south, with their 10,000,000 people, are driven helplessly along their confused and poverty-stricken way, endeavouring to meet taxation they can never pay.

The Nyasaland Report gave instances of native villages where, if the whole carnings of the people, coupled with the market value of their entire produce for twelve months, were given to thetax-gatherer, the yearly total would be short by nearly £5,000 of the taxes demanded!

Deplorable though the position may be of the 12,000,000 Negroes in the United States of America, their economic conditions are incomparably higher than those which obtain amongst the 10,000,000 natives south of tropical Africa.

It is estimated that the Negroes in the U.S.A. own more than £500,000,000, they own more than 1,000,000 farms, they conduct 60,000 substantial businesses, some of which employ thousands of Negroes and hundreds of white men. In the South African political sphere, 5,000,000 natives, and 600,000 half-caste children, have just been told once again, in strident tones, that they can never be allowed to become citizens, no matter to what civilised scale they may attain.

Mr. Pirow, the Minister of Defence, speaking at Winburg on Mny 8, asserted that Kenya and other African colonies were looking to South Africa to lead the Continent in native policy.

This, he indicated, they were quite prepared to do-and their policy was a "White Africa south of the equator," "White supremacy," and for the natives " never political or social equality."

Thus the South African may labour as a helot, his wife and daughters may be allowed social equality only in the production of half-caste children, but otherwise. as pointed out by Mr. Plet Grobler at Pretoria in December last, "there can be no equality in Church or State between white and black."

Not character, not capacity, but the colour of the skin, is alone todecide whether the African may become a man.

Thus Lord Noel-Buxton is raising an Empire issue as grave as the one raised by his great grandfather, when, on May 15, 1823, he first moved in Parliament for the emancipation of the slaves.

······To-day's Thoughts

THINK there is only one ideal that the British Empire can set before itself in this regard, and that is that there should be no barriers of race, colour or creed which should prevent any man by merit from reaching any station if he is Atted for it.

-MR. WINSTON CHURCHILL. at the Conference of Premiers, June 21, 1921.

"WHY SHOULDN"T THE WOMAN PROPOSE?"

Dr. Shiels started the matter. He told the summer school of the British Council for Social Hygiene, at | Friends' House, Euston-road, N.W.:

"There is no doubt that there have been cases where a shy man who was very much attached to a girl would have been man who was very much attached to a girl would have been greatly helped by a little more frankness and honesty on the part of the girl.

But very often, owing to her conventional ideas, a woman, if she is attracted to a man; makes a point of being particularly disagreeable to him for fear that he should think she is running after him.

What A Match! Budge Wins Davis Cup Tie After Losing First Two Sets To von Cramm

Beaten In

GERMAN LEADS 4-1 IN FINAL SET THEN LOSES CHANCE

TWO AND A HALF HOURS BATTLE THRILLS A HUGE CROWD

Capping all previous Davis Cup ties for drama and excitement, the Inter-Zone Final between United States and Germany ended yesterday at Wimbledon with America winning 3-2 after von Cramm had led Donald Budge two sets to love, and later 4-1 in the final set, this being the match which settled the issue.

Henkel had previously taken the court and squared the count by beating Bryan M. Grant in four sets. Everything thus hinged on the Budge v. von Cramm affray. No stage manager could have secured a more dramatic setting, and the two players nobly lived up to it by providing thousands of spectators with one of the greatest duels since Henri Cochet beat Bill Tilden in the never-to-beforgotten Wimbledon final of 1927. Ever since Budge arrived in England some months ago he has consistently annihilated his opponents. In the Wimbledon final he literally drove von Cramm off the court, and on such form which he had continued to display against Henkel last Saturday this deciding match appeared to be a certainty for United States.

But in this case the German ace refused to be overawed by either the occasion or Budge, and played so magnificently and courageously that he electrified the onlookers by winning the first two sets, and after being nulled back to two-sets all, swept into a 4-1 lead in the final

Then came Budge's turn. The American, putting everything he had into the game scored a love game on service, broke through von Cramm's delivery and then held his own to square the score at four-all. The bitter duel was continued until the fourteenth game, when Budge secured the winning point after holding it five times. Thus United States qualified to meet Britain (holders) in the Challenge Round, the full results being:

MATCH DESCRIBED

London, July 20. The Inter-Zone Final of the Davis Cup was concluded to-day when, in a match lasting two hours 25 minutes, Budge of United States beat G. von Cramm of Germany, 6-8, 5-7, 6-4, 6-3, 8-6.

Budge was given a real fright, and von Cramm, who was warmly encouraged by the crowd, played inspired tennis in the first two sets. He advanced to the net on backhand drives, and volleyed splendidly, though Budge looked the better recovered and levelled at two-all, winning a love game against service. Budge did precisely the same thing in the next game, and went to his points at 6-4.

Budge was quickly four-love in the fourth set and won it with the loss of three games, but von Cramm came back finely in the final and deciding set. He led 3-1 and then, after being love-30 on service, also won that game for 4-1. Budge proceeded to snatch a love game on service and then broke through von Cramm's service to make the score 3-4. The American levelled the count in the eighth game on service after being 30-40. After this games went with service and were won to love at the 11th and 12th games. In the vital winning shot. HENKEL WINS WELL In the match preceding this epic struggle, Henkel rather easily beat Grant. It was mostly a baseline duel. Grant brought off some beautiful half volleys and some amazing recoverles, but the German was the more forceful player, and this, allied with his better serving, told in the end. Grant had won big chance of saving the match when he led 4-3 in the fourth set.-Reuter.

Peters by 6-2, 6-1, and then Miss A. Marble routed Miss W. M. Lincoln by 0-1, 6-0, Miss Scriven played her match like a tornado. Seldom, I imagine, has so strong a player as Mrs. Peters found herself five games down with a total of six points to show during their passage, but this is what happened in the first set. Mrs. Peters then rallied slightly to collar two games. She could not, however, shake Miss Scriven's dominance, and G. Von Cramm (Ger.) beat G. Miss Scriven's struggle to regain her former ranking position has not been without setbacks. On Saturday she was playing very nearly in her form of 1933 and 1934 and had rediscovered that short, pushed out fore hand drive to the forehand court which used to serve her so well. It flict for a place in the last eight.

Marble-Lincoln match that there was room for a Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Lawn Tennis Players. Miss Lincoln, naturally, considering her youth and inexperience, was in a G. pitiable state of nerves and quite unable to do herself justice before a packed gallery. Possibly Miss Marble, anxious to take no risks, had heard that Miss Lincoln thrives on speed. At any rate, she left her, by slowing down all strokes except services and winners, the difficult task of generating pace. This Miss Lincoln quite failed to do. Miss Marble dropped three points in the first five games, then lost her only game before L. Hecht and R. Menzel beat B. M. Grant and W. Sabin, 5-7, 9-7, 6-4, 6-1.

DAMAGING DOUBLE FAULTS

The second set cost Miss Marble only a dozen points, but Miss Lincoin's penchant for serving double faults when well placed emphasised the extent to which she was a prey to nervous excitement. When she leant her weight on her right foot, preparatory to serving, one could see Butler and R. J. Ritchle, 6-3, 6-4, the left leg shaking. Miss Lincoln will be able to forget this experience and will one day make good.

Mej. R. Couquerque had rather more in hand against Mrs. R. E. Haylock than the score of 6-4, 6-4 suggests. It was sheer persistence that brought Mrs. Haylock such creditable figures, but Mej. Couquerque did Slaney, 6-2, 6-2.

The winners will be first to admit they had luck on their side. Contrary to their usual custom, they took the lead from the start and never lost it-a great change from the uphill struggles which brought them to this advanced stage of the competition. Though Walker could be said to have held his own with the younger Omar, Randle found bad luck on most of his drives and draws. U. M. Omar never fell from the high standard which he set from the start.

The scores do not give a true indication of the play which, if Dame Fortune had played fair, would still have gone to the Craigengower pair but by the more moderate margin of five or six shots.

 All players found the green with remarkable consistency and some of the most compact and close-lying lays that have been seen in the competition were found in this match. The Omars conceded a shot in the second and third heads and went steadily on to lead 10-2 at the ninth informed quarters naturally connect-ed the Tokyo Government's action with the present Sino-Japanese situation. But the view is now growing that some defence fund for the yen may be necessary in order to maintain it against the pressure which results from nervousness about the North China position.

Dr. H. H. Kung, the Chinese Finance Minister who has been negotiating credits for China in the United States, has just arrived here, but he declined to make any state-ment on the North China situation when interviewed to-day, pending more, detailed information from Nanking. However, he expressed the view that the Issue now appeared to be between the Tokyo Government and the Kwantung Army extremists.

Dr. Kung is apparently in good health and has abandoned his proposed visit to Nauhel for treatment. He says himself if he is feeling no better he is feeling no worse. The length of his stay in London depends upon the developments in the Far East, he added.—Reuter.

Owing to the grave situation in the north, it is deemed unsafe for foreigners to travel in the region until conditions return to normal.

This action comes to many residents as a disappointment since Peitaiho is one of the best summer resorts on the China coast, while tourists regard Tientsin and Pelping as "must" places to visit. Tsingtao, however, perhaps the most popular resort for overheated Shanghailanders, is still open to tourist trade.

OSLO TRADE AGREEMENT

QUESTION OF BRITISH PARTICIPATION

London, July 20.

The President of the Board of Trade was questioned in the House of Commons on the Oslo agreement.

Mr. Oliver Stanley said he had no information as to how satisfactorily London, July 20.

News of the Japanese Government's decision to revalue the Bank of Japane's gold stocks came too late to affect the London market to-day, but bankers with Far Eastern connections are at present engaged in discussing the implications of the step.

Coming as a complete surprise and information as to how satisfactorily it was working. He understood other States could adhere to the convention, subject to reaching a preliminary agreement with the signatories. This would appear to involve negotiations with each of them, and he did not think the question of participation of the step.

A coroner's Jury, investigating the stell mill riots here in which is stelled on May 31, to-day returned a verdict of justifiable homicide in each case.

The Jury found that each of the men killed met his death from bullet wounds inflicted by some unknown police officer and also that the victurate relations between it and the marching with a large, well-armed shody of persons attempting to force

Attending Conference In London

London, July 20. One hundred and fifty nurses from all parts of the world-delegates to the International Congress of Nurses at present meeting in London-were the guests of the Queen at a garden party held in the grounds of Buckingham Palace this afternoon.

The Queen, with Queen Mary, sat under the famous durbar tent erected in the gardens in readiness for Thursday's big palace garden party and all the guests were presented to the two Queens.

The King this afternoon drove from Buckingham Palace to the offices of the Duchy of Cornwall, in Buckingham Gate, and presided over a meeting of the Duchy Council.-British Wireless.

Even in the holiday season he must be reasonably within call in case of the urgent necessity to bring Parliament back to work. He ... is as tied to his job as any caretakerl

Once on duty he must be a paragon of patience, a master of persunsiveness. When necessary terrible in authority, stern and incisive in his rebuke to those who would break the peace.

He must have no favourites. He must be accessible to all sections of the House, ready to give help and guidance to everybody.

At a moment's notice he must be prepared to give rulings on all kinds of tricky points of order. He must know the precedents of generations of Parliamentary history; if necessary he must make precedents of his own.

He must always give the correct answer. He must never be tripped. Trip him once and bang goes his authority!

must strive to keep the balance. Like the policeman at the door, he must know every M.P. by face, name and constituency. He must be acquainted with all their ways and annoying little folbles. Upon him falls the far-fromeasy task of arranging the debates and guiding the House through its deliberations. Theoretically if you want to speak you must rise and catch the Speaker's eye, but this is not so easy, as when the other night twenty-two Labour M.P.s all rose at once. So there has developed the sensible practice of letting the Speaker know that you desire to

ROM his speaker is able to produce a much more balanced debate than by completely depending on chance.

But this does not mean that all debate is ordered and regulated. On occasions when feelings run high, when spontaneous rejoinder and counter-rejoinder break the quiet placidity of normal Parlia-. mentary life, then the Speaker must let the House go its own way. only keeping a loose hand on the rein. And this all requires great tact and understanding.

Then the Speaker must decide as to what and what is not Parliamentary language. And this so much rests on mood and manner,

ROYAL

DELL RINGERS from all over the D world seldom come to London without turning their steps in the direction of St. Paul's Cathedral. There a "College Youth" on the end of a bell rope means something more than ordinary, bell ringing, if one may judge from practice night at the cathedral, and the Peal Book of the Ancient Society of College Youths, old established association of bell ringers. But these "Youths" dance been ringing bells for 300 years they are to celebrate their tercentenary on November 5-so perhaps It is not surprising that they have gained a mastery of the technique of bell ringing calculated to overawe mere man-in-the-street. No less awesome are the terms used to describe the changes they ring-"Bob Royal," "Stedman Triples,"

Up the dark and narrow stone staircase we stumblingly feel our way-round and round, and narrower and narrower, until I am glad to be assured that no one is likely to be coming down at this moment-one-way traffic only is thinkable. To attempt to-get into reverse would be-at leastdisconcerting. At last pale daylight Election, Captain FitzRoy, the meets us. We are in the belfry, high up over the City, above even the flying pigeons. Each ringer stands on a little wooden platform onto which two leather loops are fastened. Into these he pushes his toes so that he shall stand firmly.

"Go," commands the conductor. Immediately the bells peal out, one by one, then the changes begin, and the ringers are off, pulling their ropes, knitting their bell sounds into patterns of melodic intricacy, while at the other end of the bell ropes, the great bells are whirling and turning, throwing their music into the air. Bell ringing seems to be a vigorous affair, even on practice night, but the records of the Society show that on one occasion a team of "Youths" kept on ringing for twelve hours, twenty-five minutes, completing 21,363 changes. This feat was performed at St. Lawrence, Appleton, in 1922, and I am told that it is the world record for non-stop ringing by a single set of men. I believe it. A ringer comes and sits on the bench by the wall. "Do you always

Italians Insist On Belligerent Rights For Spain

Withdrawal Volunteers Come Later

London, July 20. The Non-Intervention Committee appears to face a fresh deadlock, with the Italians requesting that withdrawal volunteers shall not be discussed until belligerent rights are granted Spain.

Agreement in principle on the proposal to establish international officers at Spanish ports to protect ngainst intervention foreigners in the civil war, reached at this morning's meeting of Non-Intervention Committee's sub-committee under the chairmanship of Lord Plymouth. The sub-committee met again the afternoon and adjourned p.m. It is understood the Italian representative, Count Dino Grandi, the Ambassador, requested that the question of the withdrawal of foreign volunteers should not be discussed until belligerent rights were granted the Spanish factions. As no agreement could be reached on this question of procedure, the meeting adjourned, without fixing a date for resumption.-Reuter.

GERMANY ABSENT

London, July 20. Nine nations on the sub-committee of the Non-Intervention Committee, which has been discussing a new Spanish control scheme, are at a deadlock.

This decision was taken when Italy's representative refused to discuss the withdrawal of volunteers from Spain. The German representative, Herr Joachim von Ribbentrop, Ambassador to Britain, did not even attend .-United Press.

LORD PLYMOUTH'S EFFORTS

London, July 20. The Chairman's Sub-Committee of the International Non-Intervention Committee held two long meetings to-day. At the morning session, it is understood the Committee reached an agreement in principle on the item in the British proposals providing for the establishment of international observation officers in Spanish ports, and further agreed at once to refer certain technical aspects of this problem to their technical sub-committee.

It was proposed, after the adjournment, to proceed to the next item in the British proposals, namely, the question of withdrawal of volunteers, but it is understood that immediately on resumption the Committee reached an impusse on the question of procedure. After every effort had been made by the Chairman, Lord Plymouth, to overcome the difficulties and expedite the Committee's work, it was found necessary to suspend' further consideration of the British plan pending consultation by representatives on the Committee with their respective Governments. -British Wireless.

MURDER TRIAL COMMENCES

PARTNERSHIP QUARREL SEQUEL

The trial of Tong Shum-wing, 26year-old carpenter, for the murder of a clausman, Tong Shu-lam, aged 24, commenced before Mr. Justice C. G. Alabaster, Acting Chief Justice, at the Criminal Sessions this morn-

Mr. E. H. Williams, Acting Crown Solicitor, appeared for the prosecution, assisted by Sub-Inspector R. Cumingham, and accused, who pleaded not guilty, was defended by Mr. Harold Lee, instructed by Mr. D.

The following were the jurors: Messrs. D. J. Fraser (Foreman), Thackman Law, R.H.L.A. Umnuss. Foo Ping-yuen, Charles Chun Ham, Young Chen-chuen and Kwan Sau-

Outlining the facts of the case, Mr. Williams said the principal characters in the history of the crime were accused, deceased and a man named Tong Shu-fuk. Accused and Tong were clansmen, whilst deceased was a nephew of the latter.

Abut March 17 last, Tong and accused, who were then resident in the country, discussed the question chtering into a partnership in Hongkong for the purpose of making ennyas beds and deck chairs. Each had a little capital and they agreed to start the business, the capital being $200 Canton currency put up by each partner. They came to Hongkong the same day and a week later started their business as the Shun Wo Cheung at 377 Shanghai Street, ground floor.

LOSES JOB

About ten days later, deceased come to Hongkong and visited his uncle to get work. He was engaged but worked there for only a week when he was dismissed by his uncleas the result of a complaint made by accused that his work was unsatisfactory. Deceased, however, remained living in the shop until May when he returned to the country.

On the day before the departure of his nephew Tong examined the books which were kept by accused. He noticed his salary was entered as $9 compared with accused's $15. He spoke to accused about the difference, and was told that he (necused) had received $15 per month at his previous employment. Not satisfied with this, Tong offered to resign from the partnership. Accused was agreeable and said he would telephone for his clansman, Tong Cham-wah to come and witness the dissolution of the partnership. Tong agreed and the two checked over the stock. The agreed value was $122.54 and accused wrote out a list of goods with their valuation. The next day, continued Mr Williams, the dansman came to the thop. He looked over the list and agreed with their valuation. Accused offered Tong 70 per cent. to buy him ret, but the latter refused. business alone. made the remarks. On May 11, deceased and his father arrived at the shop. In response an offer by Tong, deceased agreed to enter into the partnership. Accused was not informed of this, and deceased began his work at the shop. Accused continued to reside there, and although witnesses say he did not speak to deceased, all seemed to be on friendly terms.

Coming to May 17 when the murder was alleged to have been committed, M. J. NEW YORK GAINS ON CHICAGO

Yankees Still Play With All The Luck

St. Louis Can't "Jinx"

New York, July 20. New York, Giants won again to-day, gaining on Chicago, whose Cubs were out of netion. New York beat Cincinnati, four to three, with ten hits to five. Haffey hit a homer for the Reds.

St. Louis was humbled by Boston, five to three, though the Cardinals. hit ten to eight.

Brooklyn took a narrow victory from Pittsburgh, two to one, six hits

In the American League the New York Yankees won a double-header from St. Louis, with their usual incredible luck holding good. In the opener St. Louis hit 13 times, and the Yanks, though they had but five hits altogether, made five runs out of them to the Browns four. Di Maggio homered with bases ful. The night-cap was even worse from the Browns' point of view. Thirteen filts were again their "jinx" for though they yielded six runs this time it was not enough to beat the Yanks' 11 hits and nine runs... though Davis hit a homer for the Browns in this game!

Boston lost another hard-luck game to Detroit, after ten innings, when each hit 10 times. Foxx hit two home runs for the Red Sox, and McNair and Mills helped with another pair, but the Tigers got two circuit drives from Walker and York at the right moment and managed to squeeze in the tenth run to win, 10 to 9.

Philadephia defeated Cleveland in a heavy hitting game, seven to five, with 15 hits to 13. Campbell and Trosky hit homers for the Indians. Chicago took a close ten-inning decision from Washington, four to three, where each had ten hits. White Sox did not deserve the game for they had three errors .- Reuter.

On the same evening, accused was charged with murder. He made a statement mentioning that there had been a small partnership dispute with Tong, which had been amicably settled. Deceased had, however, come down to Hongkong and on hearing of the dispute instignted Tong to dissolve the partnership. Accused had then fallen ill and Tong took advantage of this and kept the accounts improperly. Because of this, a dispute arose. Two items, a bed, a book basket, had not been entered in the accounts. The upshot of the dispute was the dissolution of the partnership. After the accounts had been taken, deceased joined the partnership, but a few days later accused, seeing the whole concern had been founded by him, advised deceased not deceased. As he had founded the business he was not satisfied that deceased should take it over.
